“AN ENGAGEMENT WITH MURDER!”

SATURDAY 27 JULY 2019

When a couple, no longer in the first flush of youth, find love for the second time in their lives, they can be forgiven for feeling they have been truly blessed. So it is when Sir Pergrine Falcon becomes betrothed to widow, Lady Kitty Wake. Their happiness is apparent to all they meet.

Thus, when they board the 7.30pm express from Kidderminster to Bridgnorth on that fateful evening of Saturday 27 July 1936, it is hardly surprising that foul and brutal murder should be the furthest thing from their minds! Bound for a convivial evening with family and friends to celebrate their betrothal, they are totally unprepared for the events they were about to become embroiled in.

Amongst the eclectic mix of passengers are Jack Dawe, Jenny Wren and the beautiful Myna Bird. Outwardly, there would appear to be little to connect any of them with Sir Pergrine and Kitty but it soon becomes quite apparent that all is not what it seems. Events quickly take on a sinister complexion and move rapidly and inexorably to their bloody conclusion!

It is fortunate then that a Detective Inspector Alfred Crowther should be boarding the train at Bridgnorth after a long and tedious day at Bridgnorth Police Station, on his way home to Arley. Unfortunately for him is the fact that a policeman is never truly off duty and, confronted with a murder, he has no alternative to taking charge and commencing an investigation. You may rest assured that the Inspector will leave no stone unturned as he questions the suspects which will eventually lead him to the apprehension of the perpetrator of this heinous crime.

So join us and dine in fine style as we travel along the picturesque Severn valley aboard an authentic steam train of the period. Enjoy the camaraderie and banter with your fellow passengers as a foul and brutal murder takes place before your very eyes and you are invited to assist Inspector Crowther bring the guilty to justice. Please feel free to dress in period costume should you wish, to make your personal experience even more authentic. We look forward to welcoming you.
