It is Saturday 23 March 1949. The Second World War is slowly becoming a distant memory and life is getting back to something approaching normality. Thus, as passengers board the 7.30pm express from Kidderminster to Bridgenorth, they have no reason to suspect the journey will turn into a nightmare. When the likes of Lord & Lady Carshalton-Forbes are thrown into contact with a rogue like Albert Blackley, there is almost certain to be confrontation. But when that confrontation gets out of hand and leads to foul and brutal murder, it is very fortuitous if there is someone on hand to take charge.

It is fortunate then that a Detective Inspector Alfred Crowther should be boarding the train at Brignorth after a long and tedious day at Brignorth Police Station, on his way home to Arley. Unfortunately for him is the fact that a policeman is never truly off duty and, confronted with a murder, he has no alternative to taking charge and commencing an investigation. You may rest assured that the Inspector will leave no stone unturned as he questions the suspects which will eventually lead him to the apprehension of the perpetrator of this heinous crime.

So join us and dine in fine style as we travel along the picturesque Severn valley aboard an authentic steam train of the period. Enjoy the camaraderie and banter with your fellow passengers as a foul and brutal murder takes place before your very eyes and you are invited to assist Inspector Crowther bring the guilty to justice.
